PRESS RELEASE REPORT

Mini Suboth, represented

Indian Development Foundation

IDF Brand Ambassador for Art Education to Women
at the UN Women Conference 2023 at United Nations Headquarters, New York,
USA held from 6 - 17th. March

POWERED BY

SYNTHESIS MEDIA & COMMUNICATION PVT. LTD. | Creating Synergies

An artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundationhas nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change, and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini SubothIt was started by her along with her like-minded friend to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment, and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share, and provide has now grown into its present form.Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens, and those who are less privileged.She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting , soap making , agarbathi making, etc.Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane.Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Organisation gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

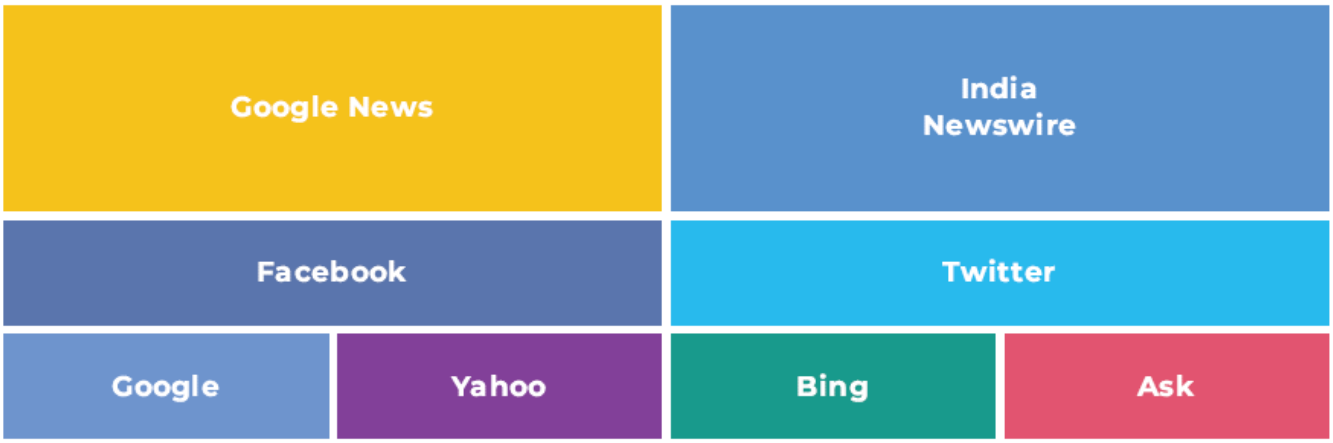
For more information, press only:

PR Contact Name : Narandra Lindait
Phone number : +91 9820504803
Email : narendra@synthesisindia.com

For more information onProduct:

Website : synthesisindia.com

Press Release optimized by leading SEARCH ENGINES



INDEX

No.	Media		Page No.
1.	www.indiaculturedigest.com	-	1
2.	www.dehlidailytimes.com	-	2
3.	www.mumbaidailypost.com	-	3
4.	www.indiamorningtimes.com	-	4
5.	www.indiaartstoday.com	-	5
6.	www.artssocietyandme.com	-	6
7.	www.worldofculturetimes.com	-	7
8.	www.bookspoetsandcats.com	-	8
9.	www.lifestylepressreleases.com	-	9
10.	www.culturewatchupdate.com	-	10
11.	www.channelonestyle.com	-	11
12.	www.myguidetolifestyle.com	-	12
13.	www.asiapacificculturenews.com	-	13
14.	www.theonlineculturechannel.com	-	14
15.	www.globalculturereview.com	-	15
16.	www.societyartsandculture.com	-	16
17.	www.wjtv.com	-	17
18.	www.cbs42.com	-	18
19.	www.nwahomepage.com	-	19
20.	www.montserratdailynews.com	-	20
21.	www.internationalnewsledger.com	-	21
22.	www.brproud.com	-	22
23.	www.asiapacificherald.com	-	23
24.	www.counton2.com	-	24
25.	www.economicpolicytimes.com	-	25
26.	www.marcomworld.com	-	26
27.	www.mediaworldtoday.com	-	27
28.	www.wvnstv.com	-	28
29.	https://fox2now.com	-	29
30.	www.kron4.com	-	30
31.	https://whnt.com/business	-	31
32.	www.rochesterfirst.com	-	32

No.	Media		Page No.
33.	www.mediaindustryobserver.com	-	33
34.	www.wjhl.com	-	34
35.	www.mychamplainvalley.com	-	35
36.	www.wtnh.com	-	36
37.	www.globaladvertisingnews.com	-	37
38.	www.mypanhandle.com	-	38
39.	www.abc4.com	-	39
40.	www.theasiareporter.com	-	40
41.	www.klfy.com	-	41
42.	www.worldpostreporter.com	-	42
43.	www.wfxrtv.com	-	43
44.	www.pahomepage.com	-	44
45.	www.valleycentral.com	-	45
46.	www.worldgovernmentswatch.com	-	46
47.	www.smallbusinessesinthenews.com	-	47
48.	ttps://wgntv.com	-	48
49.	www.dcnewsnow.com	-	49
50.	www.businesspostexaminer.com	-	50
51.	www.wnct.com	-	51
52.	www.globaljournalobserver.com	-	52
53.	https://kfor.com	-	53
54.	www.mystateline.com	-	54
55.	www.ktsm.com	-	55
56.	www.wboy.com	-	56
57.	www.abc27.com	-	57
58.	www.worldreportmonitor.com	-	58
59.	www.asiapacificexaminer.com	-	59
60.	www.everythinglubbock.com	-	60
61.	www.theasiagazette.com	-	61
62.	www.eyeballsandclicks.com	-	62
63.	https://fox40.com	-	63
64.	www.wtaj.com	-	64
65.	www.asiangovernmentsinthenews.com	-	65

No.	Media		Page No.
66.	www.wwlp.com	-	66
67.	www.asianewsguide.com	-	67
68.	www.news10.com	-	68
69.	www.news10.com	-	69
70.	www.kxnet.com	-	70
71.	www.wkbn.com	-	71
72.	www.fourstates.com	-	72
73.	www.worldonlinenewsreports.com	-	73
74.	www.mytwintiers.com	-	74
75.	www.wtrf.com	-	75
76.	www.wpri.com	-	76
77.	www.consumerproductsworld.com	-	77
78.	www.yourbasin.com	-	78
79.	www.globalbusinesswatch.com	-	79
80.	www.8newsnow.com	-	80
81.	www.yourbigsky.com	-	81
82.	www.newschannelasia.com	-	82
83.	www.theworldnewswire.com	-	83
84.	www.wjbf.com	-	84
85.	www.smallbusinessworldjournal.com	-	85
86.	www.bigcountryhomepage.com	-	86
87.	www.cbs17.com	-	87
88.	www.wbtw.com	-	88
89.	www.smallbusinessnewstoday.com	-	89
90.	www.wearegreenbay.com	-	90
91.	www.wdtn.com	-	91
92.	www.conchovalleyhomepage.com	-	92
93.	www.ksnt.com	-	93
94.	www.ourquadcities.com	-	94
95.	www.myarklamiss.com	-	95
96.	www.wsav.com	-	96
97.	www.wkrn.com	-	97
98.	https://wreg.com	-	98
99.	www.koin.com	-	99
100.	www.kget.com	-	100

No.	Media		Page No.
101.	www.upmatters.com	-	101
102.	www.smartsbusinesswire.com	-	102
103.	www.krqe.com	-	103
104.	www.wcia.com	-	104
105.	www.woodtv.com	-	105
106.	www.asiapacificnewsjournal.com	-	106
107.	www.asianewsdigest.com	-	107
108.	www.fox44news.com	-	108
109.	www.asiapacificnewstoday.com	-	109
110.	www.yourerie.com	-	110
111.	https://fox4kc.com	-	111
112.	www.wane.com	-	112
113.	www.wfla.com	-	113
114.	www.smallbusinessworldmagazine.com	-	114
115.	www.wric.com	-	115
116.	www.journalofbusinessnews.com	-	116
117.	www.wlns.com	-	117
118.	www.entrepreneurshipreporter.com	-	118
119.	www.cnyhomepage.com	-	119
120.	www.tristatehomepage.com	-	120
121.	www.fox21news.com	-	121
122.	www.businesstimesjournal.com	-	122
123.	www.kxan.com	-	123
124.	www.themarcomjournal.com	-	124
125.	www.wivb.com	-	125
126.	www.wowktv.com	-	126
127.	www.innovationandentrepreneursnews.com	-	127
128.	www.smallbusinessonlinenetwork.com	-	128
129.	www.worldadvertisingreport.com	-	129
130.	www.fox16.com	-	130
131.	www.theconsumernewsnetwork.com	-	131
132.	www.wate.com	-	132
133.	www.ktalnews.com	-	133
134.	https://cw39.com	-	134
135.	www.siouxlandproud.com	-	135

No.	Media		Page No.
136.	www.growingbusinessesinthenews.com	-	136
137.	www.wrbl.com	-	137
138.	https://ktla.com	-	138
139.	https://kdvr.com	-	139
140.	https://cw33.com	-	140
141.	www.economicnewsobserver.com	-	141
142.	www.247businessreporter.com	-	142
143.	www.globalnewsscanner.com	-	143
144.	www.asiapacificnewsnetwork.com	-	144
145.	www.ksn.com	-	145
146.	www.wiproud.com	-	146
147.	www.ozarksfirst.com	-	147
148.	www.wspa.com	-	148
149.	www.mywabashvalley.com	-	149
150.	https://pix11.com	-	150
151.	www.cenlanow.com	-	151
152.	https://who13.com	-	152
153	www.khon2.com	-	153
154.	www.oneworlddailybrief.com	-	154
155.	www.wytv.com	-	155
156.	www.westernslopenow.com	-	156
157.	https://africanamericans.einnews.com	-	157
158.	https://census.einnews.com	-	158
159.	https://lifestyle.einnews.com	-	159
160.	https://asianamericans.einnews.com	-	160
161.	https://culture.einnews.com	-	161
162.	https://nativeamericans.einnews.com	-	162
163.	https://astrology.einnews.com	-	163
164.	https://hispanics.einnews.com	-	164
165.	https://tm.einnews.com	-	165

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & India Culture Digest. All Rights Reserved.

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

We use cookies
Hello, this website uses essential cookies to ensure its proper operation and tracking cookies to understand how you interact with it. The latter will be set only upon approval. Read more
Accept Settings

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Delhi Daily Times. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.dehlidailytimes.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Mumbai Daily Post. All Rights Reserved.

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & India Morning Times. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.indiamorningtimes.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & India Arts Today. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.indiaartstoday.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Arts, Society & Me. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.artssocietyandme.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & World of Culture Times. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Books, Poets, and Cats. All Rights Reserved.

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Lifestyle Press Releases. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.lifestylepressreleases.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Culture Watch Update. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Channel One Style. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & My Guide to Lifestyle. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Asia Pacific Culture News. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & The Online Culture Channel. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.theonlineculturechannel.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Global Culture Review. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.globalculturereview.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Society Arts & Culture. All Rights Reserved.

A MEETING OF THE MINDS 2023 NEUROTRAUMA SYMPOSIUM Brain & Spinal Cord Injury March 31st @ The Westin Jackson CEUs Available! REGISTER NOW!

12 WJTV NEWS FOCUSED ON YOU

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Alfa Insurance An Official Sponsor of WJTV's Coverage of The Big Tournament. 12 WJTV NEWS FOCUSED ON YOU THE BIG TOURNAMENT

https://www.wjtv.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.cbs42.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.nwahomepage.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Montserrat Daily News. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & International News Ledger. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.internationalnewsledger.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Asia Pacific Herald. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.asiapacificherald.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indi Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambass art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftme needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now g its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, se citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empov women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has giver one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts work give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy wo those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people e and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out n and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.counton2.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Economic Policy Times. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & MarCom World. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Media World Today. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

PIONEER COMMUNITY BANK
INVESTING IN SOUTHERN WV Since 1931
Stop By Our New Location On Harper Road in Beckley!
Click Here To Learn More
Member FDIC

https://www.wvnstv.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

https://fox2now.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.kron4.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://whnt.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

https://www.rochesterfirst.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Media Industry Observer. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

https://www.wjhl.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

RILEY Sylvamo Recognizes Nexstar Media Group's Remarkable Women of Vermont, New York & New Hampshire

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.wtnh.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Global Advertising News. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.globaladvertisingnews.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.abc4.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & The Asia Reporter. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.theasiareporter.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & World Post Reporter. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.pahomepage.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

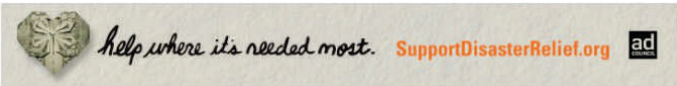
MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.



An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & World Governments Watch. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.worldgovernmentswatch.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Small Businesses in the News. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.smallbusinessesinthenews.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Business Post Examiner. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.businesspostexaminer.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

DOUBLE "A" HAULING, INC
• STONE • SAND • TOPSOIL • MULCH
Need a Haul? Give us a Call!
www.DoubleAHaulingInc.com 252-945-3136

https://www.wnct.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Global Journal Observer. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.globaljournalobserver.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

OKLAHOMA'S NEWS 4

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Mr. Rooter PLUMBING | FREE ESTIMATES On Site or Over the Phone | Serving the OKC Metro Call Now (405) 947-3100

https://kfor.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

mystateline.com

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Fixed right the first time on-time and on budget!
BROKEN FURNACE?
FixItForMe23.com

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.ktsm.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

WALKING MIRACLES FAMILY FOUNDATION WEST VIRGINIA | THE LIGHT OF HOPE
1-833-496-3398
www.walkingmiracles.org

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.abc27.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

https://www.worldreportmonitor.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

THE ASIA PACIFIC Examiner
Your daily news update on Asia and the Pacific

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

https://www.asiapacificexaminer.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & The Asia Gazette. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.theasiagazette.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Eyeballs & Clicks. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends t make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown in its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women an those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every da and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebook and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://fox40.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.wtaj.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Asian Governments in the News. All Rights Reserved.

Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.wwlp.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Asia News Guide. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.news10.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Small Business News Watch. All Rights Reserved.

Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.news10.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.kxnet.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.wkbn.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.fourstateshomepage.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & World Online News Reports. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.worldonlinenewsreports.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.mytwintiers.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Consumer Products World. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.consumerproductsworld.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.yourbasin.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Global Business Watch. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.globalbusinesswatch.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.yourbigsky.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & News Channel Asia. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.newschannelasia.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & The World Newswire. All Rights Reserved.

News Channel 6 abc
WJBF.COM

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

LOTTERY DIGGI GAMES PLAY AND WIN LOTTERY GAMES ONLINE! PLAY NOW ▶

https://www.wjbf.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Small Business World Journal. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.smallbusinessworldjournal.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.bigcountryhomepage.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.cbs17.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

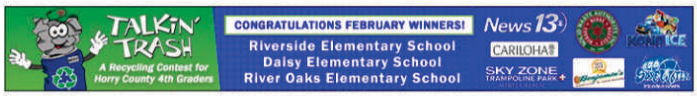
MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.



https://www.wbtw.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Small Business News Today. All Rights Reserved.
ditorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.smallbusinessnewstoday.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.wdtn.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

ksnt.com WORKING FOR YOU

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

STAY AHEAD OF THE STORM with the KSNT Storm Track Weather app
Download for FREE today!
KSNT STORM TRACK

https://www.ksnt.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

https://www.myarklamiss.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends t make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown int its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women anc those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.wsav.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

PLAYING OUR PART
PROUD TO HAVE RAISED OVER $6.7 BILLION FOR EDUCATION

https://www.wkrn.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at
BESTREVIEWS
Go Now

https://www.koin.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.upmatters.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Smart's Business Wire. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

ROUTE 66 CASINO · HOTEL GET YOUR KICKS! ROUTE 66 CASINO · HOTEL

https://www.krqe.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

THE LAW OFFICES OF DAVID L. CARRIER, P.C. ESTATE PLANNING & ELDER LAW 616-361-8400 Protect yourself. Protect your family. Attend a Life Plan Workshop Today

https://www.woodtv.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Asia Pacific News Journal. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Asia News Digest. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.asianewsdigest.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Asia Pacific News Today. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.asiapacificnewstoday.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

https://www.yourerie.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

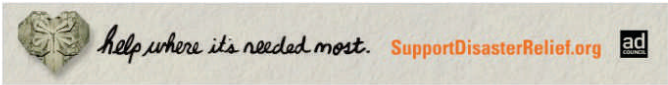
MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.



https://www.wane.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Small Business World Magazine. All Rights Reserved.
Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

https://www.wric.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Journal of Business News. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.journalofbusinessnews.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

https://www.wlns.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & The Entrepreneurship Reporter. All Rights Reserved.
Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

cabvi
Central Association for the Blind and Visually Impaired
Live Your Vision
DONATE

https://www.cnyhomepage.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

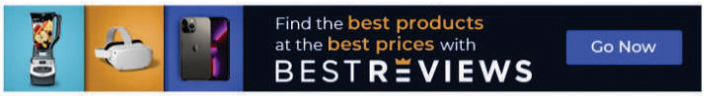
MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.



https://www.fox21news.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Business Times Journal. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.businesstimesjournal.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & The MarCom Journal. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

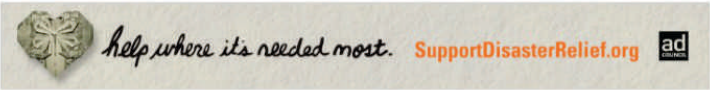
MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.



An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

REWARD YOURSELF!
USE YOUR PM REWARDS CARD OR THE APP TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THESE GREAT DEALS!

https://www.wowktv.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Innovation & Entrepreneurs News. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Small Business Online Network. All Rights Reserved.
Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & World Advertising Report. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.fox16.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & The Consumer News Network. All Rights Reserved.
Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.theconsumernewsnetwork.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

https://www.wate.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.ktalnews.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

https://cw39.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Growing Businesses in the News. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

VALLEY HEALTHCARE SYSTEM
We Accept TRICARE
Columbus Fortson Talbotton

https://www.wrbl.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador
art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded frienc make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given awa one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshop: give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebo and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at
BESTREVIEWS
Go Now

https://ktla.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://cw33.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Economic News Observer. All Rights Reserved. Editorial Guidelines User Agreement Privacy Policy Copyright Policy

https://www.economicnewsobserver.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & 24/7 Business Reporter. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.247businessreporter.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Global News Scanner. All Rights Reserved.

AN INDIAN ARTIST NOMINATED FOR THE UN WOMEN CONFERENCE 2023 REPRESENTING INDIAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & Asia Pacific News Network. All Rights Reserved.

https://www.asiapacificnewsnetwork.com/article/621558495-an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at
BESTREVIEWS
Go Now

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

WALL TO WALL CARPET ONE FLOOR & HOME
3104 EAST HAMILTON AVENUE
EAU CLAIRE, WI 54701

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.ozarksfirst.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

JEFF LYNCH Appliances • Electronics • Bedding • Furniture
Always the Lowest Prices GUARANTEED...Period!

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

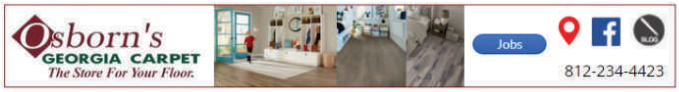
MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

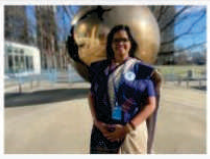


https://www.mywabashvalley.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.



Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

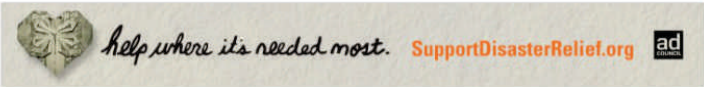
MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.



An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

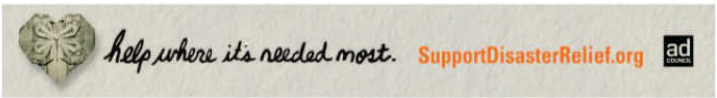
MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.



https://www.cenlanow.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf/

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. dba Affinity Group Publishing & One World Daily Brief. All Rights Reserved.

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

https://www.wytv.com/business/press-releases/ein-presswire/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

NEWS PROVIDED BY
EIN Presswire
Mar 11, 2023, 6:36 AM ET

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

For inquiries or corrections to Press Releases, please reach out to EIN Presswire.

Take the search out of your research at BESTREVIEWS Go Now

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

Powered by EIN PRESSWIRE
Distribution channels: Culture, Society & Lifestyle

EIN Presswire does not exercise editorial control over third-party content provided, uploaded, published, or distributed by users of EIN Presswire. We are a distributor, not a publisher, of 3rd party content. Such content may contain the views, opinions, statements, offers, and other material of the respective users, suppliers, participants, or authors.

Submit your press release

Contact

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in

Share This Story

Facebook
Twitter
LinkedIn
Print
PDF

More From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

View All Stories From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

Powered by EIN PRESSWIRE
Distribution channels: Culture, Society & Lifestyle

EIN Presswire does not exercise editorial control over third-party content provided, uploaded, published, or distributed by users of EIN Presswire. We are a distributor, not a publisher, of 3rd party content. Such content may contain the views, opinions, statements, offers, and other material of the respective users, suppliers, participants, or authors.

Submit your press release

Contact

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in

Share This Story

Facebook
Twitter
LinkedIn
Print
PDF

More From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

View All Stories From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

Powered by EIN PRESSWIRE
Distribution channels: Culture, Society & Lifestyle

EIN Presswire does not exercise editorial control over third-party content provided, uploaded, published, or distributed by users of EIN Presswire. We are a distributor, not a publisher, of 3rd party content. Such content may contain the views, opinions, statements, offers, and other material of the respective users, suppliers, participants, or authors.

Submit your press release

Contact

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in

Share This Story

Facebook
Twitter
LinkedIn
Print
PDF

More From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

View All Stories From This Source

https://lifestyle.einnews.com/pr_news/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

Powered by EIN PRESSWIRE
Distribution channels: Culture, Society & Lifestyle

EIN Presswire does not exercise editorial control over third-party content provided, uploaded, published, or distributed by users of EIN Presswire. We are a distributor, not a publisher, of 3rd party content. Such content may contain the views, opinions, statements, offers, and other material of the respective users, suppliers, participants, or authors.

Submit your press release

Contact

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in

Share This Story

Facebook
Twitter
LinkedIn
Print
PDF

More From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

View All Stories From This Source

https://asianamericans.einnews.com/pr_news/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

Powered by EIN PRESSWIRE
Distribution channels: Culture, Society & Lifestyle

EIN Presswire does not exercise editorial control over third-party content provided, uploaded, published, or distributed by users of EIN Presswire. We are a distributor, not a publisher, of 3rd party content. Such content may contain the views, opinions, statements, offers, and other material of the respective users, suppliers, participants, or authors.

Submit your press release

Contact

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in

Share This Story

Facebook
Twitter
LinkedIn
Print
PDF

More From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

View All Stories From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

Powered by EINPRESSWIRE

Distribution channels: Culture, Society & Lifestyle

Contact

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in

Share This Story

Facebook
Twitter
LinkedIn
Print
PDF

More From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

View All Stories From This Source

https://nativeamericans.einnews.com/pr_news/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

Powered by EIN PRESSWIRE
Distribution channels: Culture, Society & Lifestyle

EIN Presswire does not exercise editorial control over third-party content provided, uploaded, published, or distributed by users of EIN Presswire. We are a distributor, not a publisher, of 3rd party content. Such content may contain the views, opinions, statements, offers, and other material of the respective users, suppliers, participants, or authors.

Submit your press release

Contact

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in

Share This Story

Facebook
Twitter
LinkedIn
Print
PDF

More From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

View All Stories From This Source

https://astrology.einnews.com/pr_news/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

Powered by EIN PRESSWIRE
Distribution channels: Culture, Society & Lifestyle

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

Mini Suboth is a painter by profession and a social activist by passion. She is on a mission to empower women, transgender and enlighten the underprivileged.

Mini Suboth, IDF brand ambassador for art education to women

MUMBAI, INDIA, March 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mumbai: The Indian Development Foundation (IDF), a national NGO that works on health, education, and development and has Special Consultative Status with the UN's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), has announced nominations for the sixty-seventh session of the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW67). Dr. Narayan AB. Iyer, CEO & National Coordinator of Indian Development Foundation has nominated Mini Suboth to represent them at the UN Women Conference 2023. This year's theme is "Innovation and technological change and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls".

Mini Suboth, an artist by profession. She was struck by the ordeal endured by the young patients while voluntarily teaching Warli painting to paediatric patients at Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai. At that moment, she decided to contribute in whatever way she could to the upliftment of needy people in society. Akshayashakti Welfare Association is the brainchild of Mini Suboth. It was started by her along with her like-minded friends to make a meaningful contribution to the welfare of underprivileged and needy people in society. Mini volunteered to work for the education, empowerment and health of the underprivileged class of society. Their dream of an unselfish urge to help, heal, share and provide has now grown into its present form. Mini Suboth is well known among the group of influential people who have a positive effect on the betterment of women, senior citizens and those who are less privileged. She is relentlessly pursuing her vision, which is completely in line with her passion, to truly empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Over the course of the past ten years, at the beginning of each new academic year, her NGO, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association, has given away one lakh notebooks to 350 underprivileged schools in places such as Wada in the Palghar district and a few schools in Thane. She hosts workshops to give women and transgender people the skills they need to become self-sufficient and stand on their own feet. She has trained the needy women and those from the transgender community in painting, soap making , agarbathi making, etc. Her, Akshayashakti feeds 150 to 200 needy people every day and once a week for the patients and bystanders of the civil hospital , Thane. Additionally, the Akshayashakti Welfare Association gives out notebooks and scholarships on an annual basis to the children of cancer patients who are in their final stages of the disease.

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in
Visit us on social media:
Facebook
LinkedIn
Instagram

Powered by EINPRESSWIRE
Distribution channels: Culture, Society & Lifestyle

Contact

Narendra Lindait
Synthesis Media & Communications Pvt. Ltd.
narendra@synthesisindia.in

Share This Story

Facebook
Twitter
LinkedIn
Print
PDF

More From This Source

An Indian artist nominated for the UN Women Conference 2023 representing Indian Development Foundation (IDF)

View All Stories From This Source

https://tm.einnews.com/pr_news/621558495/an-indian-artist-nominated-for-the-un-women-conference-2023-representing-indian-development-foundation-idf